Frequently Asked Questions

What is Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA)?

ABA is a type of therapy for the treatment of autism or autism spectrum disorders focusing on improving specific behaviors and abilities such as social skills, communication, reading and academic learning. It also involves improving adaptive learning skills such as fine motor dexterity, hygiene, grooming, domestic capabilities, punctuality and job competence.

Does this change 51+ group contracts?

No. The benefit is available due to a change in medical policy and does not impact 51+ 2019 contracts or rates for the District of Columbia.
